

12-HOUR CONTRACTOR EDUCATION SERIES

Benefits of completing the Contractor Series:

- ✓ Qualifies for Commerce's Initial 12 Hour Contractor Training If you currently do not hold your 'Dwelling Contractor Qualifier' credential, this 12 hour contractor series will get you started toward earning it. The Department of Commerce requires that you maintain the individual Dwelling Contractor Qualifier credential, which allows you to pull one- and two-family building permits.
- ✓ Complies with the Commerce Required 12 Hours of Continuing Education Once you have the Department of Commerce's Dwelling Contractor Qualifier credential, you must take 12 hours of continuing education every 2 years to maintain this credential. The 12 hours must be completed 3 months prior to your credential's expiration date. You may either take this 12 hour series or choose from other Metropolitan Builders Association (MBA) courses offered throughout the year.
- ✓ Earn Industry Recognized Professional Designations – Get Started with this Series The MBA offers the Certified Construction Professional (CCP) designation to all its local association members with Tracks for Associate (CCP-A), Construction (CCP-C), and Development (CCP-D) designations. A total of 24 hours every two years will earn you this powerful industry designation and give you a step above your competition.

In addition, the CCP is aligned with the Wisconsin Builders Association's new Master Builder Certification (MBC) for Builder and Remodeler members. WBA builder and remodeler members are able to begin earning their MBC designation by registering with the WBA and by ordering this 12 hour series today. MBA builder and remodeler members will be able to earn both the CCP designation and the MBC designation with this 12 hour series.
